I noticed some tables moved around when I accepted changes in the clean document. I think I put them back where they should be (and I added some minor text changes that were obviously lacking when I reordered things).

Ravi,

Here are a couple of files with my suggestions, based on my limited understanding (one in track changes without moving everything, and another version with changes accepted, some other minor revisions added, and suggested moves incorporated).

I have cc'd Barbara, who is on furlough today and will participate in our discussion tomorrow, but hopefully I can articulate where I had some difficulty interpreting the current write-up during our call later today.

I apologize, but I didn't have time to make a very tidy version of my comments. Hopefully, these suggestions are helpful, or at least understandable.

Best,
Andrew
